

New York Acts to Curb School Violence

NEW YORK (UP)—The board of Education passed today for speedy segregation of juvenile delinquents, as part of a newly adopted six-point program to cut crime and violence in New York's crowded public schools.

NEW YORK (UP)—Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) said Tuesday there was "no relation between school troubles in Brooklyn and at Little Rock."

Javits said the "hair on the people of New York would stand on end if they knew their school problems were being compared to the racial disorders in the South's public schools."

Javits' statement followed charges by several Southern lawmakers that the situation in New York was worse than in Arkansas.

However, the trouble in the New York schools — at least two rapes of young girls, many beatings, gang fights and suicide of a school official — did involve Negro students.

At the same time the board declared the great majority of pupils with a declaration that problem children total "less than one per cent" of the city's nearly one million students.

It said a solution to youthful lawlessness is up to the entire community, and added pointedly.

Navy Vanguard Rocket Again Is a Failure

By WILLIAM TUCKER

United Press Staff Correspondent
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP)—The Navy's jinxed Vanguard rocket finally struggled into the sky early today but it faltered and broke in two after a one-minute flight and had to be destroyed.

The new Navy failure sent several million dollars worth of clinders tumbling into the Atlantic. It left the freshly launched Army Explorer riding alone among the doubly delayed it.

There was no indication when the Navy might try again to get a vest-pocket satellite into orbit aboard the Vanguard. Another rocket is ready. But the study of what happened to today's will undoubtedly delay it.

Still hopeful, a Navy spokesman in Washington said: "We've got more to do. We're learning all the time."

It was estimated that the rocket, believed to be carrying a simple form of life in its satellite, rose to between 10,000 and 20,000 feet, less than four miles, before it hung in the sky, broke into two fiery pieces and began falling back. It was then blown up from the ground one minute after launching.

Dr. John Hagen, director of the Vanguard project, exclaimed: "Oh, no!" when informed in Washington of the sputtering flight. It was the second actual launching failure of the full rocket assembly.

The Vanguard rose laboriously almost enveloped in its ground exhaust and climbed very slowly into the clear but almost freezing Florida pre-dawn. It seemed to hang for a moment at a modest altitude, broke into two fiery altitudes, broke into two fiery altitudes.

State Spends Fast as Money Is Collected

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The state of Arkansas income last year totaled $206,508,317, state treasurer J. Vantee Clayton reported.

The figure includes state collections, federal funds, and fees and penalties collected by about 60 agencies in day-to-day operation.

Clayton said expenditures just about balance. At the last tally of redeemed warrants the total was $100,516,070, he said. The treasurer said an $8 million reserve fund was wiped out when collections were low about three months ago and another fund was reduced from $1,500,000 to $1,300,000 for the same reason. A third fund, a construction reserve, dropped from $8,150,596 to $3,500,000.

State Comptroller Kelly Cornell said the state might have to cut down on spending the next few months to stay in the black until June 30, end of the fiscal year.

Wants Decision About Boss of Space Program

By DAYTON MOORE

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson proposed today that a special Senate committee be set up to study the question whether the nation's outer space program should be under the Defense Department or a civilian agency.

Johnson introduced a resolution that would set up such a committee with its members drawn from the armed services, foreign relations, appropriations, commerce, government operations and joint atomic energy committees.

Johnson told the Senate he hopes for early action on the proposal because the question is "of the first importance."

His move came after Tuesday's disclosure that President Eisenhower has asked his science advisers to study the question of military or civilian control of the outer space program. The President will send their recommendations to Congress as soon as the study is completed.

Pending in Congress is a compromise, with wide bipartisan support, that would leave outer space programs—both military and civilian—scientific—under the Defense Department for a year until a final decision is reached.

Navy Asks More Subs: There were these other related developments.

President Eisenhower indicated that it is up to Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy to decide whether to let the Air Force join the Army and Navy in trying to put up U.S. earth satellites. He told his news conference that all outer space development is presently under the control of the defense secretary.

Farmers Can Get Official Acre Measure

Hempstead County farmers can arrange for official measurement of their 1056 cotton, rice, corn, peanut, tobacco, acreage, allotments, or Acreage Reserve and conservation Reserve areas prior to planting time, the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee announced this week.

To get the pre-measurement service, which is being provided on a cost basis, the farmer must file a written request with the County ASC office prior to March 20, says L. B. Gilbert, chairman of the committee. The rate to be charged for the service in Hempstead County has been established at $8.00 per farm, plus 30 cents per acre for the first 50 acres, plus 10 cents per acre for each acre in excess of 50 acres, plus $1.00 for each field or subdivision.

Payment based on this rate must be made at the time the request for the measurement is filed. "The pre-measurement is purely optional," says Mr. Gilbert, "and is offered as a service to growers who prefer to have an official measurement to use as a planting guide."

The chairman explains that all allotment crop acreage in the county will be measured as soon as possible after planting time to determine compliance with the Acreage Allotment — Marketing Quota program. When compliance is checked, the farm will be considered to be within the farm acreage allotment if the crop is planted within the pre-measured area.

Leggett's Attorney Files New Brief

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The attorney for Emmett Earl Leggett, convicted of murder, filed a brief with the state Supreme Court Tuesday on Leggett's latest appeal.

The lawyer, John W. Bailey, contended that Leggett was insane. He also charged that the prosecution had violated Leggett's constitutional rights by not producing state hospital doctors as witnesses in the trial in Pulaski County Court.

Leggett was convicted of the murder of a Jacksonville boy. He is being held in the death house at the Tucker Prison farm.

Faubus Not Approached About Meet

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Gov. Orval Faubus said today he has not been contacted by anyone on another meeting with President Eisenhower to settle the Central High integration problem.

But he is "ready and willing at any time to go any place" if it would help solve the situation, he added.

The governor said perhaps a statement by Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) Tuesday that he hoped the problem could be mediated was a "fuel" from the federal government. Hays arranged a meeting between Faubus and Eisenhower last September at the height of the integration dispute.

Indicates Cut Could Be a Reserve Move

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today that a tax cut might be an administration reserve weapon if an upturn in the economy fails to develop.

The President, speaking forcefully and showing the results of a cold and sore throat, said, however, "that he still expects an economic upturn about the middle of the year, or possibly just a bit later."

Under questioning, he added that a tax cut could be a reserve weapon if the economic bounce-back does not take place as expected.

This was the President's second news conference since late October. He opened today's conference by asking reporters to make their questions long, so he could answer with either a yes or no, and thus save his ailing vocal chords. The President said that aside from his hoarseness, he felt well and had no other symptoms of illness. The White House had reported Tuesday that he had a slight cold and sore throat.

McElroy Controls Program: Other highlights of today's presidential news conference:

— He agreed that government scientists are mapping a general rough program which might involve sending an American rocket to the moon within 10 years. But he said this was not the primary objective of the government at the moment.

— He said that all outer space development was under the control of Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy. This was in reply to a question whether he might instruct the Air Force to get into the outer space program along with the Army in wake of two Navy failures with the Vanguard rocket.

— He threw cold water on the possibility of a summit meeting with Russia, saying this government has not received any evidence from Moscow that such a meeting would result in any desirable form of agreement.

— He questioned the idea of establishing a demilitarized zone in Western Europe, as the Russians have suggested, on the theory that the United States could not enter into any unilateral agreement which would affect the basic rights of the free nations involved. Praise for Stassen

— He said that any public statements made by his chief assistant.

Chicken Heads Subject of House Today

WASHINGTON (UP)—The question of cutting off chicken heads occupied the House Tuesday in a debate that led to a passage of a bill promoting "humane" slaughter of animals.

The measure, sent to the Senate, specifies that no method of slaughter is humane unless the animal is first "rendered insensible to pain."

Sponsors of the bill, which requires meat packers selling meat to the government after Dec. 31, 1959, to follow approved slaughter methods, insisted it doesn't apply to chickens.

It deals only with cows, hogs and animals like that, Rep. W. P. Poage (D-Ore.) said.

But pepper Rep. Charles E. Hoffmann (R-Mich.) won't so sure. He thought it might involve chickens. He and Rep. Abraham J. Multer (D-N.Y.) got into a discussion of killing chickens painlessly.

Stuttgart Trying to Get Industry

STUTTGART (UP)—The Stuttgart Industrial Development Corp. has launched a giant-sized effort to attract industry to the city.

Eddie Buerkle, chairman of the board of the SIDC, said the corporation has sent out 8,000 oversized business-return type postcards to be used in probably the most comprehensive labor surveys ever attempted in Arkansas.

The survey by mail follows a house-to-house canvass conducted in the city two months ago. In the canvass it was found that 1,000 individuals were available for employment in new or expanded industries.

The cards are being sent to points in a thirty-mile radius of Stuttgart, covering every postal route and all but first-class post offices.

Buerkle said the SIDC would be happy to make the results of the survey available to neighboring communities.

"We are not intending to interfere with efforts of other communities closely to secure new industry," he said. Buerkle said the SIDC was following a recommendation of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission and the University of Arkansas Industrial Research Center.

"Discipline does not begin and end at the school door... proper respect for law and order is the responsibility of the family" as well as of authorities concerned with children's daily living.

Every point of the program drawn up by a special mayor's committee and adopted Tuesday night by the board has been under long previous consideration.

The program calls for:
—Addition of six special schools to the five already in operation at which trouble makers would be segregated for teaching and special guidance.

—State provision of added correctional institutions for youngsters who "require removal from normal society."

—Until such facilities are set up, immediate study of what to do with convicted delinquents who are returned to school on parole or probation.

—Expansion of school attendance, counseling and guidance staffs.

—School Board cooperation with other city agencies in dealing with the worst troubled schools.

—"Continuing full support" of "reasonable" disciplinary measures taken by teachers and administrators.

He apparently felt some emotions as he discussed Adams because he called the former governor of New Hampshire first a general and then referred to him as Secretary Adams.

He planned to confer this week with his disarming adviser, Harold E. Stassen, about Stassen's leaving the government to run for governor of Pennsylvania. He described Stassen as a great administrator and an indefatigable worker and he said that he had many traits that admirably fitted Stassen for being governor.

He declined to give his endorsement to any of the Republicans seeking the GOP senatorial nomination in New Jersey. One of these aspirants is Bernard M. Shanley, his former appointment secretary.

the attack which occurred Tuesday night while the sixth grade girl was running, an errand for her mother. Four or five youths dragged her under a basement porch, ripped off her clothes, beat her brutally, then mutilated her.

Bleeding profusely, she limped home and lost consciousness after describing to her mother what had happened.

More than 200 police swarmed into the area in an all-out search for the young hoodlums. Police Commissioner Timothy J. O'Connor hurried to the neighborhood and took personal charge of the investigation.

Authorities were undecided as to whether a knife or a bottle was used in the attack. A leather sheath for a five-inch knife was found near the scene of the assault.

Declares U. S., Virginia Paid FCC Expenses

By NEIL MacNEIL

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—A House investigator charged today that Chairman John C. Doerfer of the Federal Communications Commission billed the government for a 1954 trip which was paid for by West Virginia and Georgia broadcasting groups.

Subcommittee Counsel Bernard Schwartz made the charge while Doerfer was testifying before a House Commerce subcommittee.

Schwartz said Doerfer's action in getting government reimbursement for expenses on the 1954 trip was "in violation of a ruling by the controlling general." According to the ruling, government officials can be reimbursed only for their own "out-of-pocket" expenses.

"I respectfully submit that it does cast light on his personal caliber as a member of this high regulatory agency," Schwartz said.

List Money Accepted

The 1954 incident involved an auto trip which Doerfer, accompanied by his wife, took to St. Simons, Ga., to address the Georgia Association of Broadcasters and on to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., to address the West Virginia Broadcasters Assn.

Schwartz said Doerfer afterward collected from the government $33.75 per diem expenses, $18.40 in miscellaneous expenses and $115.99 in travel expenses. He said Doerfer also received $100 from each broadcasting organization and that each organization paid for his hotel bills.

The hotel bill at White Sulphur Springs totaled $154.19, Schwartz said, and included "room, board, golf fees, restaurant fees, tips and service fees and I don't know what else."

The matter of accepting duplicating travel expense payments from the government and the broadcasting industry, which the FCC regulates, was raised at President Eisenhower's news conference today.

The President said only that he had been advised by legal counsel that federal law permits a government official to accept a reasonable honorarium for a personal service but not a fee in other businesses while holding federal office.

Patient Quota Discussion Is Planned

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—A meeting between University of Arkansas Medical Center officials and representatives of the city of Little Rock is planned next week to discuss a compromise on the Center patient quota law.

Pulaski County Chancellor Guy E. Williams Monday ruled the 1957 law was unconstitutional, but the state and the center indicated they would appeal. The law would have forced the Little Rock, North Little Rock, Pulaski county, and other counties to pay the Center for treating welfare patients from their area when a quota was passed.

Pulaski County Judge Arch Campbell said he thought a compromise could be reached. And City Manager Dean I. Dauley said if the Center assured the city the bill would be only $17,400 a year there wouldn't be any argument. The Center said the city of Little Rock would have to pay about $17,400 a year, not $400,000 as the city thought. North Little Rock, under the hospital's system, would pay about $27,000 and Pulaski County $8,000.

Little Rock city manager board member G. W. Blankenship said his biggest complaint is that there is no system to determine if patients can pay.

There are a lot of people on regular salaries who drive cars who are going out there for free treatment," he commented.

Would Revamp U. S. Defenses Together

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee said today Congress should consider reorganization of the Defense Department in one package — not by piecemeal legislation.

Russell told the United Press it would be too unwieldy for Congress to consider separately a series of changes in the Pentagon setup.

The lawmaker's stand came in the face of Republican reports that President Eisenhower plans to submit a series of messages to Congress on defense reorganization starting in the middle of next month.

Miss Tea Honoree
Miss Barbara Griffin

Miss Barbara Griffin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Griffin of Hope, and bride-elect of Pat Simmons, son of Mrs. Clara Simmons of Magnolia, was honored with a gift tea in the lovely home of Mrs. Frank King on Friday afternoon, January 31 between the hours of three to six by Mrs. King, Mrs. Homer Beyerley, Mrs. H. K. McMurrough, Mrs. William Butler, Mrs. Joe Hankins, and Mrs. Truman Perkins of Dalingfield, Texas.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. King and Mrs. Beyerley and introduced to the honoree, who was beautifully attired in a tulle dress of dark rose antique tulle and a shoulder corsage of Spring Sunset carnations. Others receiving were Mrs. Herbert Griffin, Mrs. Clara Simmons and Mrs. Pauline Clendenin, grandmother of the honoree. Those in the receiving line and the hostesses all wore corsages of carnations. The console table in the entrance hall held a beautiful arrangement of pink gladioli, heather and jade fern. On the mantle in the living room there was a very pretty fan shaped arrangement of pink gladioli, blue daisy and interspersed with jade fern.

Guests were invited into the dining room by Mrs. Hankins and Mrs. Perkins, where Mrs. Harry Lemley and Mrs. J. M. Duffie presided alternately at the silver service. Individual cakes iced in white and pink were served by Mrs. Edward Schooley and Mrs. Clyde Park aunts of the bride-elect. The table was lovely with an imported lace and maderia cloth over pink tulle. YANK SALES HIGH LONDON (UP)—American forces stationed in Britain spend an estimated 224 million dollars a year, according to Chancellors of the Exchequer Derek Heathcoat-Amory. Asked in Parliament Tuesday whether there was any sign that the British economy was "suffering from a policy of Yanks go home," Heathcoat-Amory said that sales to U.S. forces were as high as ever.

DOROTHY DIX

Mature Women's Talents Recognized
You May Shun Uninteresting Jobs

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a woman of 34, in excellent health and was very successful in my chosen work which I did for 30 years. Then I decided to risk a change. I was promised a responsible job in another state, took it, then discovered I held a very inferior post. I was double-crossed into believing I would be in one line, then was put into another. Any untrained person could do what I'm doing. Should I realize I must accept lower standards because of my age and try to be content with my job or risk another change?

WANDA
Dear Wanda: You write, and sound like, a woman with considerable training, skill and the capacity to face facts. This is the age of the mature woman, whose business talents are finally being recognized. I see no need for you to be content with a job that doesn't take full advantage of your many abilities. You took one chance for the worse, now try one for the better. The world is wide, surely there is a better place for you somewhere. You can't do much worse, or be more unhappy than you are now; anything will be an improvement. Take a chance.

Dear Dorothy Dix: We're a young married couple with three children. We live with my mother, and all get along very well. My problem is this: I'd like to go out with my girl friends, my mother agrees I should go and is willing to mind the children, but my husband objects. When he's home, he thinks I should be too. ANN
Dear Ann: Why can't you and the girls get together when hubby is at work? Naturally he wants you around when he's home. Go out with him at night, see the girls for morning or afternoon shopping.

Dear Dorothy Dix: A few weeks ago at a school concert I met a very nice boy. We became quite friendly, but he forgot to ask my name. He went to a lot of trouble to locate me, finally did, asked me for a date, and of course I accepted. We went out once and he hasn't called me since. Would it be ladylike for me to call him? I think I'm entitled to an explanation. PAULA
Dear Paula: Just consider this one of the many fly-by-night romances of adolescence and let it go at that. Calling the boy will accomplish nothing. What good would a trumped-up explanation do you? Accept the situation and be friendly if you ever run into him.

Dear Dorothy Dix: If a girl goes

President at Work Despite a Bad Cold

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower, refusing to give in to a cold, scheduled a heavy workload today topped by a news conference and an important foreign policy lull.

The President, who thought for a while Tuesday he would "have to quit and go to bed," stayed up long past his usual bedtime to play host at a glittering White House soiree for 60 top scientists and military leaders.

He confessed there that he might have caught his cold at a breakfast meeting with Republican leaders last Friday morning. He said that was the last time he was "around a lot of people."

FACE REPORTERS
At a morning news conference, Eisenhower faced a battery of reporters armed with questions ranging from plans for negotiating with the Russians on outer space controls and a "summit" meeting to this morning's Vanguard failure.

The newsmen also were pruned with queries about reports that the President and his Democratic predecessor, Harry S. Truman, would address a special gathering here Feb. 25 to whip up support for the foreign aid program.

Confers With Dulles
Eisenhower's final — and most important — meeting of the day was scheduled for this afternoon with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Llewellyn W. Thompson Jr., U.S. ambassador to Moscow on future negotiations

Mt. Ida Man Held for Auto Theft

HASKELL, Ark. (UP)—The FBI arrested a 21-year-old Mount Ida man here Tuesday on a charge of unlawful interstate transportation of a stolen car from Little Rock to East St. Louis, Ill., last Dec. 24. FBI Special Agent J. J. Casper at Little Rock said John Eugene Beem, was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Lee Miles. He was committed to Pulaski county jail in lieu of $2,000 bond.

with Russia. The first word on the President's cold came from White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerly late Tuesday afternoon. He said it was nothing serious and the President's physician, Dr. Howard Mac Snyder, was using a spray to relieve a "slight sore throat."

Hope Teams Even Up With Win Over Nashville

Hope Senior girls and boys basketball teams won a double-header last night from the Nashville Scrappers to even up the series with the Howard county cagers.

Monday night in Jones Field House, the Hope Juniors and Jr. Varsity teams also took Nashville for a double win.

The Bobcats rolled to a 70-49 victory last night in the Schappers gym with David Watkins leading the parade with 28 points. Jerry Franks followed with 19, Lynn Wiggins and John Graves grabbed 7 each. Jimmy May sacked for 5, Delton Hatfield and Bill Hain got 2 apiece.

Coach Don Sevier's quintet hit 24 field goals, 22 of 25 free throws with Watkins hitting 12 of 14, and fouled 18 times. D. B. Allen was high for Nashville with 21 fouls. The Scrappers hit 17 from the field, 15 of 24 charity tosses and fouled 19 times. The Bobcats led 18-8, 35-24 and 47-39 at the quarters and pumped in 23 points the final period.

Coach Julius Adams' Ladycats knocked off the Scrappers'ettes 58-45 with Judy Ratcliff getting 28, Jan Robinson 14 and Joyce Vines 11. Hope hit 18 from the field, 20 of 34 free throws and fouled 16 times. Ruth Ann Young scored 33 for Nashville as they hit 18 field goals, 8 of 22 free tosses and fouled 25 times.

In Monday night games, Coach John Pierce's Junior boys romped to a 30-15 triumph on 14 field goals, 3 free tosses and 4 fouls. Jones hit 10, Annette 8, Duke 6, each for Churchill and Robinson 5 each for Calhoun and Calhoun and Edwards a single. Diddy got 4 for Nashville.

Urges Point Negotiation With Russia

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) called upon the administration today to break up its "package" disarmament proposals and negotiate some points separately with Russia.

Humphrey asked in a speech prepared for Senate delivery: "Do we really expect the Soviet Union to open up its country to the extent of foreign inspections in all atomic energy plants, all test sites, all major communications centers, all ports, all airfields, all depots, to mention only the most important inspection points in our proposal?"

Humphrey, chairman of the Senate disarmament subcommittee, also as a starter suggested talks on the U.S. proposal to stop producing fissionable material for weapons. He said this was the "most important" point in the package.

FCC Investigation Resumes
House Livestockmen recalled Federal Communications Commission Chairman John C. Doerfer for more questioning on charges he submitted "fraudulent" travel and living expense claims which were paid by the government.

Four other FCC commissioners also accused of "misconduct" for accepting favors from the broadcasting industry were waiting to testify before a House commerce subcommittee.

Raymond J. Saulnier, President Eisenhower's top economic adviser, predicts the economy will resume its upward climb around the middle of the year. Saulnier made the forecast in testimony published by a House appropriations subcommittee.

Ford Motor Co. Vice President Theodore O. Yntema said United Auto Workers' Union proposals for profit-sharing and price-cutting would kill off two of the nation's car makers. He told the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee two other auto firms would be left "limping low."

Yntema said the union plan was a diversionary tactic to remove attention from its "inflationary" wage demands.

In other congressional news: Defense: The Senate in a unanimous vote okayed President Eisenhower's request to run emergency $1,200,000,000 to speed missile programs, work on a missile interceptor system and disperse Strategic Air Command bases.

Weapons: But two Democrats made it clear while voting for the program they thought it was inadequate. Sens. Stuart Symington (Mo.) and Henry A. Jackson (Wash.) called for a stepup in the encouraging more private school-missile-firing sub in a line and ships.

Teachers in Win, Cling to Third Place

By UNITED PRESS
Arkansas State Teachers' Monroe Ingram, the Arkansas intercollegiate Conference leading scorer, hit 27 points to keep pace with his competitors Tuesday night and led the Teachers to a 93-76 win over Arkansas College.

The Teachers' victory meant they kept a firm hold in third place in the conference. They now have a 4-1 AIC record. Henderson and Arkansas Tech are tied for first with 5-0 records.

Ingram dropped in his 27 points in the win over the Scots in spite of a collapsing zone used against him. He started the game's scoring, then moved out of the hole when it became too crowded. In the first period he hit only 10 points, but hit 17 in the second half.

The Scots Corbett Passmore took scoring honors for the night with 28 points. He hit 13 straight free throws.

At Arkadelphia, Ouchita beat Ozarks 88 to 66 in a last minute thriller which saw Marvin Venable drop in two free throws with 46 seconds to go for the win over the Mountaineers.

Ouchita had a 70-54 lead with eight minutes of the second half gone, but the Mountaineers put on a scoring spurge and tied the score on a field goal by John Wyatt. Ouchita had led the entire game until that basket.

In a non-conference game at Russellville, Arkansas Tech beat Southern State 88 to 74.

Freshman J. P. Lovelady hit 20 during the night, 20 of them at the foul line, while senior Ronnie Kennel netted 21 points.

Southern State led 50-46 at the half after trailing by as much as 11 points in the first period. Soon after the start of the second half, their top players began to foul out, and with 13:05 left the Wonder Boys tied the score at 40-40. Tech then took the lead on a lay-up by Dean Wilburn at 8:45 and Southern never caught up.

In all, 71 fouls were called, with 42 of them in the first half.

H-bomber programs.
Setting Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (N.Y.) asked the House Commerce Committee to investigate interstate betting on sports events, including college games. Keating said the time gamblers were shifting more and more from horses to "making book on college and high school baseball, football and basketball contests."

MUSIC IN A MINOR—Little 5-year-old piano prodigy Eugenia Adamec, surrounded by the members of the American Symphony of New York, obviously has a full-scale problem with her big instrument. Since her feet don't reach the floor, the tiny soloist employs a footstool (arrow), but must practically stand up to use the pedals.

SPACE PROBLEM—It's not so much what to paint as where to paint it that has screen star Elma Karlowa scratching her pretty head in Munich, Germany. With the help of another artist, she's covered the walls of her apartment with murals. At left is a self-portrait against a background of the streets of her home town, Dubrovnik, Yugoslavia.

FIFTY-FIVE BURIAL—Some lucky Joe in 2007 A.D. will drive this 1957 Plymouth hardtop, brand spanking new from its dual headlights to four Super Cushion tubeless tires mounted on the wheels. The car, along with city and state documents, predictions and other memorabilia, is being placed in a hermetically sealed container and being buried, above, in the lawn of the county courthouse as the feature of Tulsa's celebration of Oklahoma's 50th year of statehood. The heir of the person making the best guess as to Tulsa's population 50 years from now wins the car. It is expected to survive its hibernation in splendid condition.

LOOKING FOR THE BIRDIE?—Mayno this cat never heard about what curiosity did to another of his breed, Pete Costas, who works in a Washington, D.C. camera shop, took the candid picture of the inquisitive fellow.

Navy Faces More Delays on Vanguard

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (P) —Navy crews face one and possibly two more days of delay before they can fire their Vanguard rocket up through jetstream winds with a chance of orbiting a tiny moon, it was indicated today.

Time was running fast for the Navy, which is well behind in its scientific satellite tests, and the jetstream was running faster. If they needed any reminder, members of the Navy rocket team were aware that the Army's Explorer moon passed over Cape Canaveral at 9:46 p.m. Monday.

Gilbert Clark, forecaster for the Mimi Wether Bureau, said the winds appeared stronger than last week when they caused a two-day postponement of the successful satellite shot by the Army's Jupiter-C. West winds were measured at 100 miles an hour at 20,000 feet in the Cape Canaveral area and 180 miles an hour at 30,000 feet.

"The winds now are the strongest in quite a while," Clark said. He predicted, however, that after reaching their peak during Monday night, they would taper off in the following 24 to 48 hours. It would be at least Wednesday, in his opinion, before conditions were favorable for a shot.

The Navy plans to fire a 20-inch fully instrumented "basketball" into space during March. But it still has not moved the Vanguard off the ground with a 6-inch, 3-pound "space ball." Four of these smaller shots had been scheduled, starting in December. The program obviously will be telescoped if the Navy is to get its primary satellite aloft before April.

Peyton Place Author Will Get Divorce

NEW YORK (UP)—Grace Metalious, best-selling author and mother of three children, announced Monday night she plans to divorce her present husband in Mexico to marry a former disc jockey.

The plump, 33-year-old author of the spicy novel "Peyton Place" told a news conference she's ending her 10-year marriage to school teacher George Metalious by the "fast divorce" method in Mexico City.

Mrs. Metalious said she flew to New York from Gilmanston, N.H., Saturday on a spur-of-the-moment decision to patch up a "lover's quarrel" with her future husband, T.J. Martin.

Martin, who now manages Mrs. Metalious' affairs, said he would accompany his future bride to Mexico and remain with her there "even though it might take six weeks for her to get her divorce."

"I was married the first time at 17," the authoress said. "I was far too young. It was much, much, much too young. I don't think the things you want when you are 17 are the things you want when you are 33, not by a damn sight."

Mrs. Metalious said her husband was agreeable to the divorce and would take care of the children until she returns to Gilmanston to live in the house she bought and remodeled with the profits from her novel about life and love in a small New England town.

She said her second novel, about a New England school teacher, is due for publication in the fall.

Union May Liberate Groups From Hoffa

By WILLIAM J. EATON
United Press Staff Correspondent
MIAMI BEACH (UP)—The AFL-CIO executives may decide today to "liberate" Teamsters Union locals eager to escape rule by Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa.

Meanwhile, the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee appeared ready to launch a full-scale investigation of corruption charges against the Operating Engineers and Jewelry Workers Union.

The council was due to consider pleas from several Teamsters locals seeking to affiliate directly with the AFL-CIO and quit the expelled truck union. If their requests are granted, it could set off massive retaliation by Hoffa and lead to an all-out labor war. The AFL-CIO planned to attack Hoffa indirectly by abolishing the Michigan Federation of Labor, AFL group controlled by the Hoffa forces.

Inquest for Woman Killed at Roadblock

PADUCAH, Ky. (UP)—Authorities scheduled an inquest today for a young woman sightseer who was shot and killed by mistake at a police roadblock set up to trap a fugitive gunman.

The gunman, Carl Burton, 24, has vanished. He is one of two who kidnaped a Missouri state trooper Saturday and held him hostage for more than 28 hours.

The woman, Miss Jewell English, 24, was killed Monday when a car driven by her brother, Claude, stopped at a roadblock where Missouri state trooper Vernon Hopkins was talking with Forrest McAlester, a Fulton, Ky., insurance agent. They had just been alerted that an unidentified car that might contain Burton was heading for them.

THIS ONE'S ON THE HOUSE—Farmington Township, Mich., firemen are true firemen. They set this blaze, and form a standing-room-only audience for the ensuing inferno. Township officials decided that the cheapest way to get rid of 11 condemned buildings was to burn them to the ground. Farmington is just outside the Greater Detroit area.

CHAPTER XXXIII

Off at daylight the following morning, Sebastian and Sam Lester were to rendezvous again with Bill Wiggin.

They met Bill Wiggin at the Blue Mountain camp, and learned he'd been held up by a chore for the military over past life Warrers. They camped the night with him, saw him packed and away the next morning, then headed homeward once more, swinging wide to the southwest and a safe crossing through the lava beds by way of the old Lassen trail, well below the center of hostilities. Sebastian selected this route so he could contact Drury McVane, who told him that Provo Holt was supposed to come through three weeks before, but had not shown.

The good weather lasted all the way home and, coming in across the final rims, Sebastian sensed a swelling vigor in the world around him and realized with a start that the season was speeding swiftly, with February fully gone and March partly so, and spring's first days only a little way off. When a man's days were full of urgency and movement, he mused, time had a way of sliding by unnoticed.

On Bob Gayle was waiting at the home corvalls to help with the unsavory chore.

"Sure glad to have you fellows back. After all the company we've had for such a spell, Mother and me been findin' things a mite lonely, just bein' by ourselves again."

Sebastian had his head buried against a mule's shoulder while he worked at a sweat-soaked latrine. Now he came quickly around. "What's that? You mean Miss Ashland and her brother are gone?"

"Kitty Dulra, too," nodded old Bob. "She went along with them. That biggity military feller, Cap'n Dillon, he come for them. Took 'em away in one of them ambulance wagons."

He crossed to the house, dusk, a blue tide, was coming in across the rims, and Mother Gayle had a light going in the kitchen. Busy at the stove, she turned as Sebastian came in. He closed the door, put the width of his shoulders against it, and his voice ran low and deep.

"When did they leave?" "Four days ago," Mother Gayle told him. Reading the shadowed, baffled disappointment in his eyes, she quickly added: "Connie left this for you."

She took an envelope from a kitchen shelf, then turned to the stove again while he spread the enclosure on the table by the lamp. The writing was as clean lined and graceful as the girl who had penned it.

"Ward: Jud Dillon has come with an ambulance wagon and escort, and the official order for Phil's removal to medical quarters at Fort Klamath. I must, of course, go along. Kitty Dulra is accompanying us, as is both Phil and I would not have it other wise. Personally, I would have preferred to wait until Phil was a little stronger, but the Army has its own way of doing things, against which it is useless to argue."

"I find that in closing, I must say this: There is a great gentleness in my heart for you. — Connie."

There was another note for him, a short one, in Kitty Dulra's uniformed scrawl.

"When you brought me to your ranch, Ward, you said it would give me the chance to find a new faith in life. I have found all of that and so much more. I'll never cease blessing you. — Kitty."

Spring came in on the wings of a storm which battered the country for five days. Calamity hit two of Jeff Chesbro's park outfits. One caught in a slide in Cloudy Pass lost a packer and 10 miles out of 18. Another, also on the way in from Crescent City on the coast, ran into swift-rising storm waters at a Klamath River ford and lost exactly half of a 24-ounce string. Ward Sebastian had returned to Firecrack Creek and McVane's Mill with a loaded string. Caught there by the storm, he had to lay over with McVane until the weather broke.

April was 10 days old before Sebastian started back to Yreka. It was 15 by the time he arrived there. The town was seething, and it was Helen Chesbro, while she served him supper, who gave him the cause.

"The Modocs have done no order again, Ward. They met with a peace commission for a talk, and then, even as the talk was under way, drew guns and began shooting. They killed General Canby and another member of the commission and badly wounded a third. The word is that it was Captain Jack himself who shot General Canby. Why should they do such a thing, Ward?" Sebastian brooded for a little time. Then he shrugged.

"Old and bitter wrongs, long remembered, Helen. Such things live with all men, red or white. Under similar conditions white men cold-bloodedly slaughtered Captain Jack's father, the Ben Wright affair, you remember? We've written a lot of other dirty rules in this game of grab and destroy. How can we, in full conscience, blame the Modoc for using a few of them? A sad, sad thing, but—" He shrugged again.

"Just a hastening of the inevitable end," Sebastian told her. "I'm sorry for our future certain dead — and for theirs."

Would Unite Eight Lutheran Bodies

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UP)—A New York clergyman appealed today for an immediate effort to unite eight major U.S. Lutheran bodies in a single big church.

The Rev. Dr. F. Eppling Reinartz, secretary of the United Lutheran Church in America, made the plea before the opening session of the 40th annual meeting of the National Lutheran Council.

The council supervises cooperative service programs, such as relief work and military chaplaincies, for eight Lutheran denominations with more than five million members.

Blind Negro Woman Dies in Blaze

NEWPORT (UP)—A blind Negro woman was fatally burned Monday night as she was babysitting for another Negro couple.

Mary Herron, about 50, was tending the four children of Levi Martin and his wife. Officers said Willie Lee Martin, 4, was playing around a stove, set a piece of paper afire which in turn ignited the woman's dress.

She died at 2:30 a.m. in a Newport hospital.

The house did not catch afire.

Mass Killer, Girl Plead Innocent

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—Charles Starkweather, 19, confessed mass killer of 11 persons, and his 14-year old girl friend, Carl Fugate, have pleaded innocent to murder charges.

Starkweather, a swaggering, boastful outlaw, when arrested in Douglas, Wyo., last week, barely mumbled his innocent plea when arraigned Monday.

Carl later pleaded innocent to identical charges. The diminutive teen-ager, standing with her father's arms about her, spoke in a soft, wavering voice.

They were charged with first degree murder with premeditated malice and first degree murder in the perpetration of a robbery in the gun slaying of Robert Jensen, 17, of near by Bennet, Neb. The maximum penalty upon conviction would be death in the electric chair.

Re-evaluation of Integration Order Asked

By LLOYD HOLBECK
United Press Staff Correspondent

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark) said Tuesday that his proposal for Congress to re-evaluate the Supreme Court school integration order is a "preliminary step" toward the easing of racial pressures in the South.

"It is one of several measures that may be necessary," the Little Rock congressman told newsmen after discussing the racial problem with Pulaski county legislators.

At the same time, Hays refused to comment on a telegram the president of the segregationist Mothers League of Central High said she had sent to his Washington office.

Mrs. Margaret C. Jackson said she wired the congressman asking him if he thinks Congress has the power to re-evaluate the Supreme Court ruling. The telegram, Mrs. Jackson said, also asked why Hays does not "cause some action to be taken" in Congress against those responsible for the "unlawful use of troops in Little Rock," whether he thinks the use of troops is legal, and if he is for or against "forced integration of our Southern schools?"

Hays said he "preferred" not to comment until he had seen Mrs. Jackson's telegram.

Meanwhile, he said the Pulaski county delegation appeared to think his suggestion for Congressional action "has merit."

"They said this — that the bill appears to be in the direction of easing pressures in the south... it appears to have merit," Hays said.
